Anti-Harrassment Policy

The Linux Plumbers conference is a working conference intended for professional networking and collaboration in the Linux community. Participants are expected to behave according to professional standards and in accordance with their employer's policies on appropriate workplace behaviour.

While at the Linux Plumbers Conference or related social networking opportunities, attendees should not engage in discriminatory or offensive speech or actions regarding gender, sexuality, race, or religion. Speakers should be especially aware of these concerns.

We do not condone any statements by speakers contrary to these standards, and we reserve the right to deny entrance to any individual.

Please bring any concerns to to the immediate attention of a member of the Linux Plumbers Conference planning committee. We thank our attendees for their help in keeping the Linux Plumbers Conference professional, welcoming, and friendly.

This policy is derived from the Linux Foundation's Code of Conduct which applies to all Linux Foundation events.
