

How LPC went virtual

Thursday, 27 August 2020 10:00 (45 minutes)

The switch to an online event required a lot of scrambling by the Linux Plumbers Conference organizing committee. This is a session to talk about how we did it – what technologies were involved, where the challenges were, what is available to a group organizing a conference for nearly 1000 people using only free software. Come to talk about what we did, to learn about running an online event of your own, or just to ask questions about the whole process.
